

JOB VACANCY:

Researcher at the Center for Religious Studies (Bruno Kessler Foundation)

N. REQUIRED: 1

LOCATION: Trento, (Italy)

VALID TILL: 12th December 2019

DESCRIPTION: The successful candidate will carry activities of research and action instrumental to the advancement of the mission of the Center on the fruitful interaction of religion and innovation and the 2019-2021 strategic plan of the Center on 'Religion and Innovation. Gearing up for the AI revolution'. The candidate is expected to:

1. Assume duties and responsibilities appropriate to the appointment as may be assigned to him/her by the Director of the Center in view of the development of the mission and the strategic plan of the Center.
2. Actively contribute to the life of the Center in all its aspects, in particular to the interaction with other centers and units in FBK.
3. Contribute to the preparation of applications for competitive national and international calls in research and action.
4. Be physically present at the Center during working hours.
5. Be ready to travel and work wherever needed.

The ideal candidate should have:

- University Master Degree in a pertinent area and topic (degrees in economics, finance, psychology, science and technology included)
- Experience, skills and interest in research and action-research
- Experience, skills and interest in quantitative research
- Experience, skills and interest in project applications and fundraising
- Experience, skills and interest in working on Artificial Intelligence and Information and Communication Technology, and in particular interest in working with other centers at FBK and in particular with the Center on Information and Communication Technology
- Teamwork attitude, proactivity as well as organizational skills, ability to work in an interdisciplinary environment
- Strong working knowledge of English (certified level or proven experience in English speaking countries) and Italian
- Excellent skills in communication.

More info about the job and to apply on: <https://jobs.fbk.eu/>

